Why HSBC Asset Management

HSBC Asset Management offers a broad range of Islamic investment solutions for faith-based investors looking to build Shariah-compliant portfolios.

Creating Shariah-compliant products takes specialist expertise and a deep understanding of Shariah principles. Key decisions are made with care and guided by informed interpretation.

Islamic investing focuses on ethical and socially responsible opportunities, helping you align your financial aims with your values.

HSBC is proud of its long-standing commitment to Islamic investors worldwide. Our approach is supported by our Global Shariah Supervisory Committee— independent Shariah scholars with deep expertise in applying Shariah principles to finance.

Islamic Investment Principles in Practice

- ◆ Money as a tool: Driving growth, supporting businesses, and benefiting communities.
- ◆ Shariah investing: Permitted shares avoid prohibited activities like Riba or uncertainty.
- ◆ No interest (Riba): Focuses on fairness by avoiding guaranteed returns without shared risk.
- ◆ Encourages shared outcomes: Fosters balance – Encourages risk-sharing and reduces wealth concentration.

Key features of Islamic Finance

Guided by the independent Global Shariah Supervisory Committee of renowned scholars

Products designed to broadly meet Accounting and Auditing Organisation for Islamic Financial Institutions (AAOIFI) standards

Income purification offsets Shariah non-compliant activities

Suite of Islamic investment building blocks enabling Shariah-compliant multi-asset portfolios

ESG screens built into Islamic country and regional ETFs to complement Shariah screening

First asset manager to combine ESG and Shariah screening* while upholding Islamic investment principles.

Why HSBC Asset Management

Income Purification of Funds

HSBC handles income purification for our investors. While funds may receive dividends from Shariah-compliant companies, some large, diversified corporations might generate a small portion (less than 5%) of their revenue from non-compliant activities. To address this, a purification cost is applied.

A Global Shariah Supervisory Committee

Our independent Global Shariah Supervisory Committee, “Shariah Committee” monitor all our Islamic Funds throughout the year.

To ensure compliance with Shariah principles at all times, they issue an annual Shariah certificate or “Fatwa”, to confirm continual checks have been carried out.

The Shariah Committee conduct the following to ensure continual Shariah compliance of our Funds:

Study of the prospectus, investment objectives and policies

Use of Investment Techniques and Instruments

Advising the Board of Directors regarding compliance with Shariah principles

Establishing principles for calculating an appropriate percentage of impure income

Approving proposals for the nomination of suitable charities to which the impure income will be donated

Preparing an annual certificate of the fund's compliance with Shariah principles for inclusion in the financial reports

Shariah compliance is vital to maintain the quality of our business & our customers' trust

It is important to note that the Shariah investment restrictions placed on the investments in the HSBC Islamic Funds may result in the funds performing less well than funds with similar objectives which are not subject to these restrictions.

Key Risks

The value of an investment in the portfolios and any income from them can go down as well as up and as with any investment you may not receive back the amount originally invested. Shariah investment restrictions may result in the funds performing less well than funds with similar objectives which are not subject to these restrictions.

- ◆ CoCo Bond Risk Contingent convertible securities (CoCo bonds) are comparatively untested, their income payments may be cancelled or suspended, and they are more vulnerable to losses than equities and can be highly volatile.
- ◆ Callable Bond Risk Any unexpected behaviour in interest rates could negatively impact the performance of callable debt securities (securities whose issuers have the right to pay off the security's principal before the maturity date).
- ◆ Counterparty Risk The possibility that the counterparty to a transaction may be unwilling or unable to meet its obligations.
- ◆ Credit Risk A bond or money market security could lose value if the issuer's financial health deteriorates.
- ◆ Default Risk The issuers of certain bonds could become unwilling or unable to make payments on their bonds.
- ◆ Derivatives Risk Derivatives can behave unexpectedly. The pricing and volatility of many derivatives may diverge from strictly reflecting the pricing or volatility of their underlying reference(s), instrument or asset.
- ◆ Emerging Markets Risk Emerging markets are less established, and often more volatile, than developed markets and involve higher risks, particularly market, liquidity and currency risks.
- ◆ Exchange Rate Risk Changes in currency exchange rates could reduce or increase investment gains or investment losses, in some cases significantly.
- ◆ Index Tracking Risk To the extent that the Fund seeks to replicate index performance by holding individual securities, there is no guarantee that its composition or performance will exactly match that of the target index at any given time ("tracking error").
- ◆ Interest Rate Risk When interest rates rise, bond values generally fall. This risk is generally greater the longer the maturity of a bond investment and the higher its credit quality.
- ◆ Investment Leverage Risk Investment Leverage occurs when the economic exposure is greater than the amount invested, such as when derivatives are used. A Fund that employs leverage may experience greater gains and/or losses due to the amplification effect from a movement in the price of the reference source.
- ◆ Liquidity Risk is the risk that a Fund may encounter difficulties meeting its obligations in respect of financial liabilities that are settled by delivering cash or other financial assets, thereby compromising existing or remaining investors.
- ◆ Operational Risk Operational risks may subject the Fund to errors affecting transactions, valuation, accounting, and financial reporting, among other things.
- ◆ Sustainability Risk: Sustainability risk means an environmental, social or governance event or condition that, if it occurs, could cause an actual or a potential material negative impact on the value of the investment.

Shariah investment restrictions may result in the funds performing less well than funds with similar objectives which are not subject to these restrictions.

The value of investments and any income from them can go down as well as up and investors may not get back the amount originally invested. Where overseas investments are held the rate of currency exchange may also cause the value of such investments to fluctuate. Investments in emerging markets are by their nature higher risk and potentially more volatile than those inherent in some established markets. Stock market investments should be viewed as a medium to long term investment and should be held for at least five years. Any performance information shown refers to the past and should not be seen as an indication of future returns.
